Handling Grievances at Work

EVH in conjunction with McMahon Employment Law invite you to attend their latest 'Hot Topic' session on "Handling Grievances at Work".

This session will provide up to date guidance on handling grievances in the workplace and will cover:

- Procedures, including complying with the ACAS Code of Practice
- Carrying out investigations
- Conducting meetings
- Handling appeals

The aim of this session is to help managers and anyone else who is involved in the handling of the grievance process in their organisation to feel more comfortable in dealing with these difficult situations and to help avoid the risk of Employment Tribunal claims arising.

The timings will be as follows:

1200 hours	Registration and sandwich lunch
1230 hours	Session starts
1400 hours	Session concludes

Thursday 24 October 2019
Betty's Room, EVH, 137 Sauchiehall Street, Glasgow

ABOUT THE SPEAKER

PAUL MCMAHON is the founder of the specialist Employment Law practice based in Scotland, McMahon Employment Law. He is a solicitor with 20 years' experience and advises employers in the Housing and Third sectors on the full spectrum of employment issues. His clients have ranged from many of Scotland's housing associations (large and small), local and national charities, local authorities and government departments, as well as some of Scotland's largest private companies.

He has been recognised by the independent legal directories, The Legal 500 and Chambers and Partners Guide to the Legal Profession, in the field of Employment Law and is also part-time Employment Judge sitting in Tribunals throughout Scotland.

Paul teaches post-graduate law students on the Diploma in Legal Practice course at Strathclyde University, and has taught on the Employment Law Masters course at Robert Gordon University. Paul regularly provides training to clients and speaks at conferences. Paul is, of course, a long standing contributor at EVH events.
