

Today's typical workplace can include five different generations working together, bringing varying expectations, challenges and opportunities for employers and their workers/volunteers. Book now for the EVH Annual Conference to hear from speakers who will share their knowledge and insights across many avenues of this fascinating subject.

We are pleased to be able to return to the DoubleTree by Hilton, Dunblane Hydro in May, and we are actively encouraging bookings from any and all governing body, management, or staff team members – everyone is welcome!

In this speaker announcement today, we are delighted to share that Dr Donald Macaskill, Chief Executive of Scottish Care, will be joining us on the Saturday to provide an update on the sector and how this may affect you. Look out for more announcements to follow shortly.

If you are new to our conference, we think it worth mentioning that we never miss the opportunity to provide some first-class entertainment and networking too across the weekend. It can't all be work after all!

The EVH Executive know that budgets are tight and have once again agreed to keep costs as low as they can go for this event, genuinely bringing you the best possible value for your money. Single rooms are £785 per person and double/twin rooms are £685 per person. This price includes all conference sessions over the weekend, lunch - Friday & Saturday, Bed & Breakfast - Friday & Saturday night, Drink reception, Dinner & Entertainment - Friday & Saturday and all refreshment breaks.

to see you,
to see you...
