

Thenue's Volunteer Project

Thenue Housing Association has launched a new Volunteer Project aimed at providing valuable volunteering opportunities in Calton where it has many homes and tenants. The trailblazing pilot project aims to provide community-led solutions to help families build community relationships and helps towards employment. The project is part of what's known as Calton Demonstration of Change (DOC), a multi-agency programme being led by Clyde Gateway as part of Glasgow's Child Poverty Programme. With a strong focus on early intervention, employment support, and community wellbeing this approach aims to improve long-term outcomes for families and is testing new ways to help families move out of poverty.

Thenue's Volunteer Project aims to deliver local community volunteer opportunities to engage and equip local people with practical skills. The project is rooted in the belief that volunteering can be a powerful pathway to employment, wellbeing, and community connection and help families move out of poverty. It will endeavour to eliminate multiple barriers to sustainable employment.
