

Shettleston Housing Association hosts 50th Anniversary Gala Day

Shettleston Housing Association were joined by over 800 residents and community members to celebrate its 50th anniversary gala day.

In partnership with Community Events Scotland, the event welcomed families, local organisations, community groups and businesses for a packed day of entertainment. Attendees enjoyed live music from Roberta Childs and RISE, fairground attractions, food, face painting, balloon modelling, stalls from local vendors and sports activities from Glasgow Life. All compered by radio presenter Gavin Orr.

Shettleston Housing Association said it was grateful to receive a generous £1000 donation from its contractor CCG Scotland Ltd, through its community benefits programme. As well as providing a fun day out for residents, the event gave local organisations an opportunity to engage with the community through promoting their services and recruiting participants. Shettleston Housing Association extended sincere thanks to everyone who played a part in making the day so memorable, and looks forward to building on this success at future community events.

Shettleston Housing Association's chairperson, Tracey Kernahan, said: "We had a fantastic turnout for our family fun day, held as part of Shettleston Housing Association's continued 50th anniversary celebrations. It was great to see so many people from across the community come together and enjoy the day with us.

Thank you to everyone who attended and helped make the event such a success."
